Note Adobe says it will continue developing Photoshop; however, their message indicates that they are less likely to develop new features for Lightroom. Photoshop Express seems to be the least used version. Photoshop is a full 32-bit program, which means it has a greater range of file types and support for image editing and printing. It has a large market share that has grown steadily over the years. The only main competitor is Adobe's rival to Photoshop, Elements.

This weekend, Mieers-Coca Cola and Subaru join together to unveil the Hi-Competition Concept. You can find out more about the Hi-Competition Concept by looking at Subaru's full press release below, and by watching the video in the carousel.

Structural and functional differences of two aldehyde oxidases from the catalases superfamily. The catalase superfamily is composed of 23 members, including the classical H<sub>2</sub>O<sub>2</sub> dismutating catalase and heme-copper oxidases (typical members). Aldehyde oxidases (AOs) are originally classified as an alkyl hydroperoxide reductase (AhpR) member but are phylogenetically allied to other catalase superfamily. In this study, we identified two mammalian AOs (AO1 and AO3) as members of the catalase superfamily. There are structural differences of AOs: AO1 is composed of one FAD and an FAD-binding site near the FAD-binding site in classical catalases; AO3 has two FADs and an active-site metal-depleted heme, and a histidine is located at the FAD-binding site. Functional analysis of AO3 suggests that, in contrast to AO1, AO3 becomes a non-H<sub>2</sub>O<sub>2</sub>-dissipating oxidase in the presence of an organic electron donor (i.e., thiol).

Verge capital allocated to Facebook ads as part of ex-Googler's new firm Verge capital, the New York-based company co-founded by internet entrepreneur Andrew Kortina and Adam Shinawatra, has a big problem. The small startup is battling with multiple venture firms that are closing in on the end of its funding round. Now it appears one of the final investors has decided to take back its cash. Verge capital co-founders Andrew Kortina (left) and Adam Shinawatra The firm ended its Series B round of funding in July of this year and received $3.8 million (£2.7m) from private backers including the New Enterprise Associates, as well as from two Silicon Valley-based firms that pledged additional funding. The firm is having trouble raising more and now possible predators around it seem to be reaching for some of their shares. All the groups involved have been touting their own shares over the past few weeks, so even if the firm agrees a purchase, it may take some time before the deal goes through. Shinawatra left Google in 2014 and is now CEO of the firm, while Kortina is a former Google engineer. Verge capital is headed towards a Series C round that may raise $15m.
